

The Power of Community: How Cuba Survived Peak Oil

The Massachusetts Coalition for Healthy Communities and Groundwork Somerville will be showing "The Power Of Community: How Cuba Survived Peak Oil"

Co-sponsors: Green Streets Initiative, Somerville Community Growing Center, Somerville/Medford United for Justice with Peace (SMUJP), Earth Crisis Response.

When: Thursday, January 24th, 6:30-8:30pm
Where: The VNA, 259 Lowell Street, Somerville
3rd floor community room

Come and join us for this great movie
& a wonderful discussion to follow!

See how Cuba transformed itself when it lost access to Soviet oil and petrochemical fertilizers and pesticides! What community-building projects can we start, and what ongoing projects can we support, to smooth out the transition to a post-carbon future?

Green* your transportation to the movie and get entered into a raffle (thanks to the Green Streets Initiative)!

* So, hop on a train, bus, bicycle (use lights and safety gear!!!) or your own feet, or sign up to carpool through GoLoCo.org, and help us cut down our collective carbon footprint! You can even drive part way and walk or bus the rest (at least 5 blocks away). Hybrid cars and car-pooling with just your own family doesn't count, b/c they don't remove cars from the road, and still pose hazards to cyclists and others trying to go green!

 OTHER RESOURCES!

* MBTA.com for transit info, and often routes you hadn't thought of!

* www.GoGreenStreets.org: Director Janie Katz-Christy would be glad to help you explore options. 617-625-3822

Jennifer Lawrence
Groundwork Somerville
jllawrence@groundworksomerville.org
www.GroundworkSomerville.org
617-628-9988

Eli Beckerman
Mass. Coalition for Healthy Communities
eli@masschc.org
www.masschc.org
617-821-1453